Dear Business Partner,

Effective August 31st LSI Corporation completed a licensing agreement with QLogic that transitions the sales, support and future development of the QLogic Storage Services Platform (SSP) product line to LSI.

Reinforcing LSI's reputation as the "Trusted Storage Solutions" company, LSI now controls the roadmap for an integrated solution that becomes more competitive than stand-alone pieces providing one stop shopping and continuity of support and supply of Advanced Data Management Solutions for our OEMs, resellers and their end users.

Solutions include advanced storage services software for multi-level data protection and virtualized SAN management via data path modules (formerly QLogic SSP 8200 & SSP 8400) and the powerful family of LSI storage systems.

LSI as part of this agreement hired the majority of the SSP development team and that team will continue to develop this technology and fulfill development requirements for our OEMs, resellers and their end users.

LSI will provide sales, service and support for QLogic's installed base as well as for current channel and OEM partners of QLogic. Effective August 31st 2007, QLogic will no longer offer the SSP 8200 & SSP 8400 products for sale. Partners and re-sellers will be able to service existing sales opportunities via the LSI Channel.

QLogic will continue to provide service and support for the next 30 days during which post-sales service and support for existing QLogic SSP products will transition to LSI.

Please feel free to contact me directly with any further questions.

Sincerely,

Dani Naor
